

We have been super busy this half term learning about lots of different things. We have learnt about hygiene, Internet Safety, Chinese New Year and much more!

Here are some little activities you could try doing during the short break to keep you busy. Please share your finding and email any pictures to nursery@angrambank.co.uk and we can add these to our displays and learning journeys.

Can you measure all the people who live in your house?

Who is the tallest/shortest?

Can you tell your grown up what happens in the story?

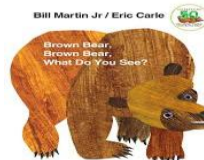

I spy

What things can you see around your house?

Can you describe the things to someone else and see if they can guess the object from your description?

Can you see anything that Brown Bear saw in the story?

Golden Rules

We have also been focussing on our golden rules during this half term.

We have been working in teams and helping our friends.

Can you tell your grown up what our golden rules are?

How can we be a good friend?

We would just like to say thank you for your continued support and contributions.

Don't forget to check out our class blog! Here we share all our fantastic learning. <http://www.angrambankprimary.co.uk/class-blogs>

For a bit of fun!

Lots of children have shown interest in obstacle courses and roly-polys. Have a try doing some roly-polys and making your own obstacle course at home!
